If you'd do well
By buying made,
This town's the place,
You know, to trade,
Your pocket, too,
Will not be hurt,
For what we sell
Is cheap as dirt.

CHRISTMAS goods are arriving.

MARK TWAIN is advertised to lecture at Paris at an early day.

Mr. W. H. YANCEY, a prominent business man in the Third Ward, is a candidate for councilman.

Cupid has been at work in the West End and a wedding in high life is reported for the near future.

A show worn by the famous Maud S when a weanling is now in the possession of the BULLETIN office.

A SITUATION, a cook, a farm, a fortune or anything else, can be had by advertising in our "want column."

Several parties in this city have already made arrangements to spend several months in New Orleans.

The Bell Telephone Company has won its suit against the People's Telephone Company, after years of litigation.

The mercury stood at twenty-five degrees above zero this morning. The frost was heavier than for several days past.

The prospect of receiving a supply of coal for the winter is, at present, a very gloomy one. The stock in this city, which is a very small one, is being rapidly consumed.

J. McFarland Murrett, a young photographer at Lexington, committed suicide on the 1st inst, by taking morphine. No cause, except sickness, is known for the act.

The services at the Southern Methodist Church nightly grows in interest. Rev. Mr. Young's sermon last night was of profound interest. Let everybody hear this gifted minister.

We are requested by Mr. James Hefflin to say that the race for City Marshal is without foundation. He is still a candidate and expects to remain on the track until the election.

Messrs. A. R. GLASCOCK & Co., have in stock a very large line of ladies' dresses and children's cloaks, dolmans, etc., of the latest style and of the most fashionable fabrics, to which they ask attention in an advertisement elsewhere. Read the advertisement and give them a call.

A PENNSYLVANIA man is in Lewis County, contemplating the building of an immense quarry. The Vaneburg Courier says that several persons are bee-keepers on a small but profitable scale and that climate, vegetation and location all favor the prosecution of the business in that section.

The business of Messrs. Paul Hoeft & Bro. will not be interrupted by the death of the senior partner but will be continued at the old stand on Market street as usual. The firm has a large and complete stock of staple and fancy dry goods at the most reasonable prices, to which attention is called. See advertisement in another place in this paper.

At a regular meeting of Union 105, Cigar Makers' International Union of America, held on the 2nd inst, the following officers were elected for the ensuing six months:

President—M. P. Kehoe.
Vice President—W. E. Lane.
Recording and Corresponding Secretary—L. A. Naden.
Financial Secretary—W. A. Cole.
Treasurer—A. Miller.
Sergeant-at-Arms—J. Sheppard.

Messrs. RYUN & HOCKER in an advertisement elsewhere direct attention to a late importation of ladies' dresses and children's cloaks and other articles in their line, all of which will be found worthy of attention by their patrons and the public generally. Every department of their business is very complete and the prices are such as must give entire satisfaction. Call and see the stock.

This following is from the Cincinnati Evening Post of Tuesday: Yesterday Capt. Lewis C. Pearce, broker at room 30, Johnson building, drew $12,000 in U. S. bonds from the safe of the bank for the purpose of cutting off the coupon. He took them to his office but before proceeding with his work stepped into the hall a moment. On returning they were missing. He went wild, put every body on the search, rushed to the bank and back again. Entered his office in despair, and lo, there they were, just where he had put them in a pigeon hole.

The following is from the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, of Sunday: Mr. Ed. Harvey, one of the best of our local scenic artists, has just completed a curtain for the new opera house at Mayville, Ky., which surpasses in beauty of design and excellence of finish any similar painting exhibited here in many seasons. The canvas was lighted up and displayed to a few admiring friends at the Grand Opera House, this city, yesterday afternoon, and the verdict of most distinguished critics as Matt Morgan was most flattering. It is what is technically known as a "drawing curtain," the center piece being a beautiful bit of white satin richly ornamented with gold.

The embroidery are of a subject which, in keeping with the general subject, which is oriental. Heavy folds of maroon velvet, gracefully caught up by gold cords, masque in the sides and reach down to a tiled floor, profusely spread with bright colored Turkish rugs. Its conception is clever and the arrangement and handling of the masses of drapery as original as its execution is artistic.

The great charm of this one of Mr. Harvey's best works, however, is the little painted point in the center, the subject of which is these lines of Moore's description of the Vale of Cashmere:

"Who has not roamed the Vale of Cashmere,
With its roses the brightest that earth ever gave,
Its temples and grottoes and fountains as clear
As the love-lighted eyes that hang over the wave?"

Oh, to see at sunset when warm o'er the lake,
Its splendor at parting a summer eve
Like a bride full of blushes when lingering
At the last look at the mirror at night ere she goes.

The painting is as lovely as the rhythm of Moore. The waters of the lake as tranquilly sweet as the dreamiest of poets would have had and the scene of the sunset is so repose as grateful to the eye as the balmy breath of the lotus flower to the faded wanderer. The picture is too small to be called grand, but because the artist has chosen a middle flight it is none the less graceful, and when the canvas is hung from the proscenium arch of the Mayville opera house, that institution may have the possession of one of the handsomest curtains ever seen in a theater.

A FAULTLESS piece of work is always attractive to an aesthetic eye, and when a perfect object in point of color and symmetry of parts is on exhibition, it always demands attention. Such was the quilt on exhibition at Messrs. George Cox & Son's show window a few days ago, the work of Mrs. James H. Hall, of this city.

The close inspection you found it to be made up of squares geometrically arranged, and united together with the most exquisite embroidery. On each square is either painted or in Kensington work some appropriate design contributed by some one of her friends. These single pieces were collected by Mrs. Hall and worked in together, displaying a taste departing from the "crazy quilt" idea and indeed wonderful. The lining of this quilt is quilted with a design and is very handsome. It is, no doubt, the finest piece of work of the kind ever exhibited in this city.

Sales of Land.
The following tracts of real estate have been recorded at the office of the County Clerk, since our last report:

Charles Fister to L. A. Henderson, lot on south side of Fleming place; consideration, $100.

Mary A. Lee and husband to H. C. Curtis, house and lot on Fleming place; consideration, $500.

Samuel P. Howard to Jane S. Howard, undivided one-sixteenth interest in twenty-five acres of land in Ripley creek; consideration, $100.

James Howard and son to Wm. K. Kipper, undivided one-sixteenth interest in twenty-five acres of land in Ripley creek; consideration, $100.

Annand Williams to John G. Williams, sixty-two acres of land in Mayfield precinct; consideration, $100.

John G. Williams and son to Sarah C. B. Burton, lot on Fleming place; consideration, $100.

David E. Roberts' administrator to Joseph L. Burton, lot in Mayville; consideration, $100.

Edo. Burton to A. Curtis, grantors' interest in estate of Elizabeth Curtis; consideration, $100.

PERSONALS.
Miss Mollie Jennings, of Minerva, is visiting Miss Minnie McDougle.

Dr. George F. Loyd, of Hastings, Neb., is visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

The friends of Mr. Lissant Cox, who has been confined to his room for a week or more past by illness, will be pleased to hear that he is better.

Mrs. O. W. Lowry, wife of Lieutenant Lowry, of U. S. Navy, together with Miss Lowry, are the guests of their brother, Mr. T. Lowry, of Plum street.

The marriage of Miss Lillie M. Schatzmann to Mr. William H. Dersch, was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christ Schatzmann, on Thursday evening the 27th ult., in presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Geo. E. Johnson.

The first explanatory remarks were made by the Rev. Geo. E. Johnson, who was heartily enjoyed by all who were served at 10 o'clock, and at 11 o'clock the guests reluctantly dispersed with many kindly wishes for the continued happiness of the hospitable hosts. The presents were numerous and costly.

The County Schools.
Editor Bulletin: I will prefer the publication of my notes of the public schools of Mason County with a few general remarks, and at the close of these notes will offer some suggestions as to the difficulties and possibilities of the school work with general statistics of the county.

The first explanatory remarks would make it that in speaking of the schools I do not use an ideal or perfect standard, but a realistic one. We find them. Therefore, I would not have my readers infer from the just praise with which I mention many of our schools, that these have reached a state of perfection beyond which there is not great room for improvement. This observation is especially true as to school houses and their furniture. The want of care in making the school houses neat and comfortable is not the least among the many difficulties which our teachers are compelled to meet. Only yet I am prepared to say, with not more than two exceptions, I found the teachers very earnestly at work, and notwithstanding serious disadvantages in many instances successfully at work, and I hail this earnest endeavor on the part of teachers as the promise of better schools in the coming years. I will only say that these notes are not intended as personal reminiscences and I do not feel that it would be proper, however, pleasing to record the social incidents of my trip and I will confine myself strictly to the schools and to each school as I saw it.

L. W. GALBRAITH,
C. S. C. S. M. C.

SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 1—MURPHYVILLE.
The school house is located on the South bank of the North Fork, opposite Murphyville. The house from the outside presents an aged and time-worn appearance; but within is much more pleasing, being furnished with handsome painted seats, globes and other modern improvements. But the house is not large enough for comfort and proper instruction. The school is under the management of Mr. G. W. Gault and J. H. Wright are trustees. Mr. Galbraith has been very faithful in his attentions on the school, the many houses have not, as yet, visited it. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bland and Mrs. Wm. Wells of the patrons have visited the school. The number of pupils in the district as shown by the census report is ninety-seven; number on roll is fifty-eight, and number taught in attendance was thirty. Miss Wadell is teaching. This is her second session, having taught the public school and a private school of five months at this place last year. Miss Wadell has begun to collect a professional library, has a reading card for the little folks, and undertakes her work with determination and energy. The discipline and general tone of the school are good, and the school is doing well.

Call.
If Mr. T. Y. Nesbitt will consent to make the race for councilman in the Fifth Ward he will receive the support of many voters.
